Here are some pics of an very small Kone Minispace Lift. It only got 3 Ropes and is based on the 4.th Generation Ecodisc. It got the NMX07 Hoisting machine and the LCECPU561. Minispace Lifts are never MRL

WEW MISTO WORLD SPECIAL

This month we have the New Msio World special. Let's take a look at the best comments that New Msio World has left on various lift filmers videos. New Msio World's comments are always very random, and we love randomness (we called our group the Moo Cow diarrhea tasting club!), the more unexpectedly random something is the better!

The last thing that you remember is looking before BENO entered the hospital as he is good. Now you find yourself staring at the lift which is located in here.

The women's voice said "The ThyssenKrupp ISIS looks like Mk 2. It is just known for life that you surely surf the lift! You are the last of the lift surfers that you ever surf since the last 2 years. Only you can surf the ThyssenKrupp ISIS forever! Farewell."

Gritting your teeth, you swear that you will surely surf the ThyssenKrupp ISIS!

Random lift is resulting in homicide, but this time it was homicide to retreat this promotion and captivate the world from the beginning to last. Every Second Count is the recruitment for a new world that is currently made by Ludwig van Beethoven and Frédéric Chopin by the surround. Because we are challenging the new random lift to where the selection must be survive for long time and threatening the balance of your surroundings! I am New Msio World 352, the American mobile hero, leading of the new servants in the United States of America, will make your random lift survive once again!!! This is the end, SchindlerTeeJay94, your random lift has now ARRIVED!!!!!!!

TORDANS PACE THE OLD PAINTED COUNTERWEIGHT

The old painted counterweight was very angry with Mr Wilbert for painting him. He says his life has been so shite since the day of his painting. He was disgraced and wanted to smash Mr Wilberts head in for painting him. His bricks have been stuck since the paint has been holding them together.

MR SHAFTLIGHT IS SUPER HAPPY

Last week Mr Shaftlight was upset and depressed because there was an arse set ontop of him which depressed his light diffuser and damaged his light bulb. A few days later Bob Gherkin came to the rescue and installed a 3W cold white SMD style LED into his fixture. He also received a small cooling fan which blew his farts out of the light fixture. Passengers started complaining about the foul smell of lightbulb farts. "It smells like Diarrhea". Mr shaftlight would also randomly turn off on engineers which caused an engineer to collapse and fall in the counterweight. The counterweight squeed the engineer until his hartcase broke causing the engineer extreme relief. Since then Mr shaftlight has been farting and turning off randomly on engineers.

PINE HORSEY AND VINCORN GUYS PAGE

Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy were driving around in their bright pink bus as usual. Unicorn Guy's mum had found his spare tins of pink paint and was asking too many questions. "I told you we should have kept the paint in your stable" said Unicorn Guy. "My stable is not a paint shed" replied Pink Horsey. They had driven to London and it was midnight. Then they saw the Docklands light railway. "Those trains would be much nicer in pink" said Pink Horsey, so they sneaked into the DLR depot with their pink paint and painted a train. A worker saw them and called the police. Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy ran back to their bus and drove away. The police gave chase. Unicorn Guy was very scared and drove down the bus only road with the rising bollard. After they drove over it, the bollard raised, and the police couldn't get through (none of them could remember which of their keys made the bollard go down). There were 5 police cars chasing them and they drove around to the other end of the bus only road, but this took them awhile to drive around as traffic was heavy. Unicorn Guy had lost the police and floored the bus back home and parked it in the usual spot in Pink Horseys stable. All night the police were searching for them.

Unicorn Guy had been watching in and out challenges on youtube. This is where people cycle around shopping centers and get chased by security. This gave Unicorn guy an idea! Unicorn Guy ran into Pink Horseys stable and woke him up. "I have an amazing idea!" yelled Unicorn Guy, "lets drive our bus through the Hexagon shopping center". They both ran to their bus, and after having an argument about who is driving and who is filming, they then drove to the shopping center. The rear entrance to the center is an open space large enough for a bus to fit through. Unicorn Guy drove the bus into the shopping center and Pink Horsey leaned out the doors and shouted "OI SECURITY! LOOK AT US!". Unicorn Guy drove the bus at speed through the shopping center. But there was a problem. Everyone in the shopping center did not realise it was an in and out challenge. They all thought it was a terrorist attack. Everyone screamed and ran as they thought Unicorn Guy wanted to run them over. After this the police armed response unit came. At this point Unicorn Guy was driving out of the shopping center. Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy found themselves in another police chase. This was their second police chase this week. They did the same thing as they did last time and drove over the raising bollard. And to their amazement, this worked for a second time. The police had to drive the long way round. They had lost the police, and they managed to get home without being caught. The police were once again searching for them all night. Unicorn Guy knew that they couldn't risk another police chase as the police would be ready for them next time.

Milo t.k's page

Hello again i am milo and in this issue i will be showing pictures to the update to the layout and i will be showing my character versions

So here's my character versions

In December 2017 i made a layout and on the last issue i showed the pics of them and a lot has changed with the clay removal and platform demolitions which were built badly so im gonna get hornby made platforms and where the old station was im gonna build a depot and here is the map diagram for it.

CASPER'S PAGE ON URBEX

Abandoned Buildings:

Abandoned buildings can be found almost anywhere in the world, even the sahara desert, it is really a big gamble when you goto one because you don't know if there's a way to get into it because the council likes to go and seal up all the entrances and the chavs hangout out there and vandalise it to a point where it doesn't even look like a building. Although it can be hard to find a way into the building (or whatever it is) that is the fun because ur searching for the way in and then when you get in you have a building to yourself that has this creepy vibe because a building that should be full of people is completely empty.

UNDERGROUND:

Underground is not for people with fears of spiders or if u have claustrophobia because there are alot of tight spaces that you sometimes even have to crawl to. The usual thing people do on underground urbex is going through storm drains which are usually bendy and have many ways that you can get lost, people will draw maps so then can explore. In places where there is no storm drains there are historical tunnels like the catacombs in Paris, people dedicate their life to that.

ROOFING:

Roofing is for people that love the adrenaline rush, it is probably the most popular because you can do it almost anywhere because almost all building have a roof. People such as photographers get some very good pictures of the city from another perspective. The access to the roof will usually be from the fire exit staircase or through the service areas.

This months Dorito pics!

This month I went on a cheap flight adventure to Malta.

Malta was very interesting and is full of abandoned buildings.

In February, Malta is out of season and is very much a different sort of holiday to in the summer.

As I seem to have a gift for choosing shit hotels, Malta was no exception.

We stayed at a very cheap hote. It was £100 each for 5 nights, breakfast, and flights.

The outdoor pool was too cold at this time of year and the indoor pool was horrid. For a moment it looked very nice, then the smell hits you. It smelt very stale and disgusting.

The pool was switched off and seemed to have been switched off for a very long time. These pictures make it look clean, but it wasn't. The bottom of the pool is covered in debris. Also they wanted you to pay for a towel to use this pool, despite being a guest here.

I still can't believe a swimming pool could be this bad. I have never known a pool to smell like this. If they repaired their equipment and drained and refilled the pool it would be very nice here.

After the disappointment of our hotel's pool, I decided to go and sneak into someone else's pool. But not just any pool, a luxury 5 star hotel pool!

The outdoor pools were too cold, but the indoor pool was perfect. Everything was ever so nice here.

There was a reception desk to this pool, but the staff didn't seem to think anything of it as I casually walked past. They all assumed I was staying here.

I didn't even have a hotel towel like everyone else, but still nobody noticed me!

This vehicle crane is very safe!

Yes, it is definitely very very safe!

The landscape in Malta is very different to back home

Most of the lifts here were very cheap

Most of the lifts in Mata were very cheap. There were a couple of old lifts, and a couple of Ecodiscs and Otises, but most lifts were cheap shit.

And when I say cheap I mean very very cheap.

Cheap lift surfing time!

Malta used to be famous for their buses, well not anyone. There used to be loads of old buses in Malta but today all of the buses are modern and there only a few types of bus here.

Here is an Otokar bus

The King Long buses had nice sounding ZF gearboxes.

Valletta, the capital of Malta at night night time.

In Valletta they were installing an around town art exhibition.

This lift was very dodgy on inspection. It opened its doors at a floor. It took me a long time to get it to close the doors. I thought I was stuck on top.

THE END
