SPECIAL!!

PINK HORSEY AND UNICORN GUY SPECIAL

Unicorn Guy went to the mythical creature convention at the Excel center. They were very disappointed that all 4 of the Alimak Hek climbing lifts were no longer working at the bridge outside excel.

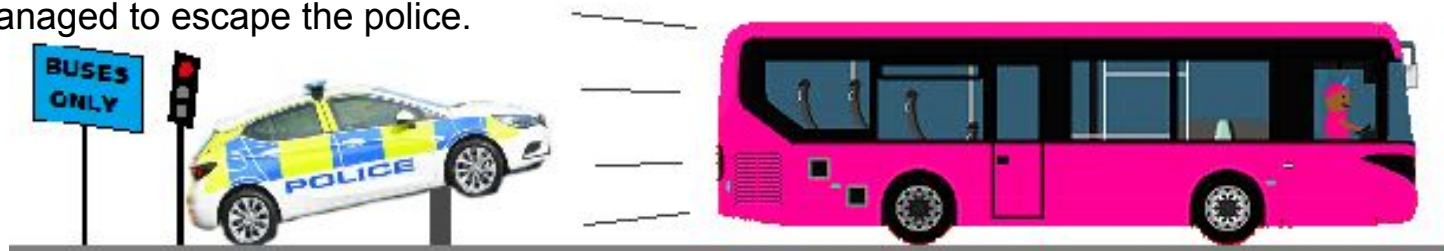

They went into the convention and looked around the stalls selling weird and wonderful products for mythical creatures to buy. Unicorn Guy stole some horn polish from Hornz and Morez for himself, as his horn had gotten dry and old. He also got some Rainbow Myhtreetz that make your poo come out rainbow colored for Pink Horsey, despite them being no better processed than cat food, and a new clubcard for the Mythical Square Valley shopping centre in Gillingchat, the home of the mythchav - a chavy mythical creature. On top of all of this, he also got his face painted, but ran away when they asked him for the money.

On their way back home to Chavham they went to mytheside and filmed themselves safety breaking the stupid expressevans that changed direction when you safety break it. They stayed in these awful lifts for half an hour, pissing people off by changing the direction just before they went past the ground floor door rollers. The people with the pushchair and the really fat person waiting for the lift got really angry watching the lift going up and down but never opening its doors. The fat person went to the awful mythline lift in the mynge, but as he was so fat, he overloaded the lift and the pump burned out. Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy then snuck into the trampoline park by going through the service area and skipping the reception. When they got in pink horsey did a wee on the fake grass as he thought it was real, and they got kicked out before even getting on the trampolines, but at least the lady didn't find out about them sneaking in. This drove them mad so they went to restaurant called 'mythers' downstairs and went in the toilet and painted the room pink. Then they ran through the fire exit and legged it back to their camper van bus.

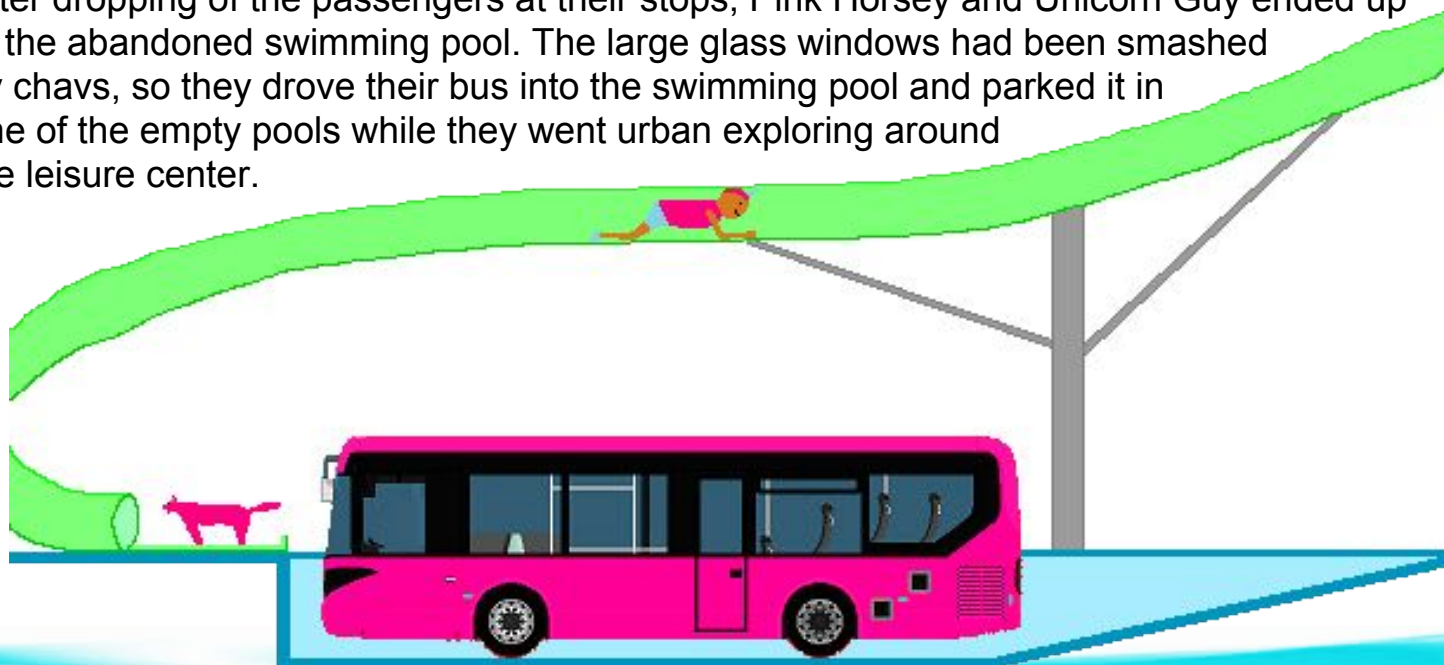

After visiting the mythical creature convention, Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy were driving home in their Enviro 200 MMC and then suddenly Unicorn Guy's worst nightmare happened. A police car spotted them. The police could not believe their eyes when they saw a 12 year old driving a bus, and on top of that, they still had the stolen goods from the convention. The police gave chase and put on their blue lights and yelled "PULL OVER". Unicorn Guy panicked. "What should I do?" He yelled. Pink Horsey replied "Don't pull over otherwise your parents will find out about the bus. Drive as fast as you can". So Unicorn Guy drove his bus as fast as it would go. And then in front of him was a bus only road with a retracting bollard. And this retracting bollard was rather old. It did not use RFID to detect an approaching bus. Instead it simply used an induction loop that would only activate when a large vehicle approached it. This meant that it would lower for Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy's bus even though it wasn't an official local bus. The bollard lowered and Unicorn Guy drove across it with the police giving chase, but then the bollard started to raise after they had passed and hit the bottom of the police car causing lots of damage. Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy had managed to escape the police.

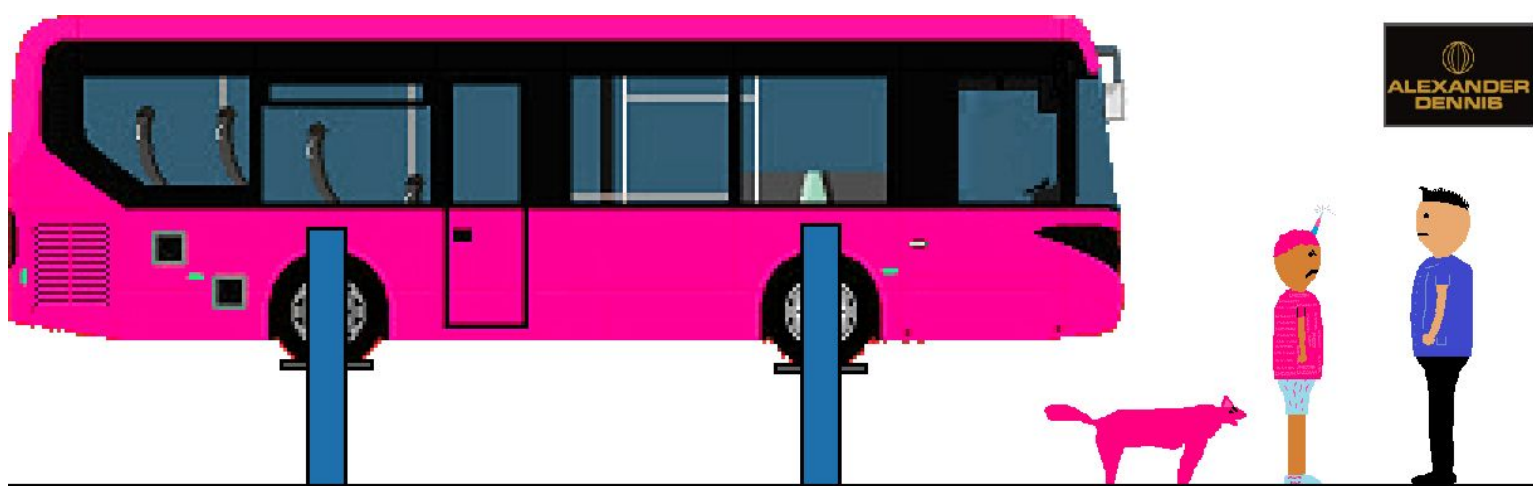

As they were now in the center of town on the bus only roads, Pink Horsey had an idea. "Lets run a bus service" he said! Unicorn Guy thought this would be a great idea. "Lets run our bus on route 521" said Pink Horsey. But Pink Horsey was unhappy with the recent route change on route 521 as it on longer goes to the swimming pool as it had closed down. "Lets run the old route 521 to the abandoned swimming pool" he said. They pulled up at the bus stop and a few people got on the bus and looked shocked that it was being driven by a 12 year old. But luckily, in England, most people will not get involved when they notice something that is wrong. Occasionally you will get a nosey cunt who will take matters into their own hands and think themselves policemen, but this time, nobody was a nosey cunt. The passengers looked confused and very concerned that the bus driver was so young, but everyone was in a hurry to get home and nobody wanted to be the first one to say something, so everyone kept quiet.

After dropping of the passengers at their stops, Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy ended up at the abandoned swimming pool. The large glass windows had been smashed by chavs, so they drove their bus into the swimming pool and parked it in one of the empty pools while they went urban exploring around the leisure center.

After exploring the leisure center, Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy decided to drift their bus around the leisure center car park. They were very unimpressed with the slow performance, so they took the bus back to the Alexander Dennis dealership, and Unicorn Guy got into an argument with the sales guy. Unicorn guy demanded that they put a Euro 5 engine and 6 speed Allison in their all new Enviro. The sales guy said that the all new Enviro bodywork was exclusively for Euro 6 parts only, and he refused to install Euro 5 parts in it. Unicorn Guy went mental, "I WANT MY FUCKING BUS TO GO FASTER YOU SHIT FACED WANKER CUNT" he screamed at the sales guy. The sales guy said that it was not possible to do that and meet the Euro 6 standard. Unicorn guy was furious at this as he wanted the all new Enviro styling. "I WANT A FUCKING FAST BUS WITH THE NEW STYLING YOU FAT MOTHERFUCKING WANKER PUSSYHOLE" he screamed right in the face of the sales guy. At this loads of other sales guys came running out to see what the problem was. Pink Horsey told them that they had spent a lot of money on their bus and it was as slow as a snail on weed.

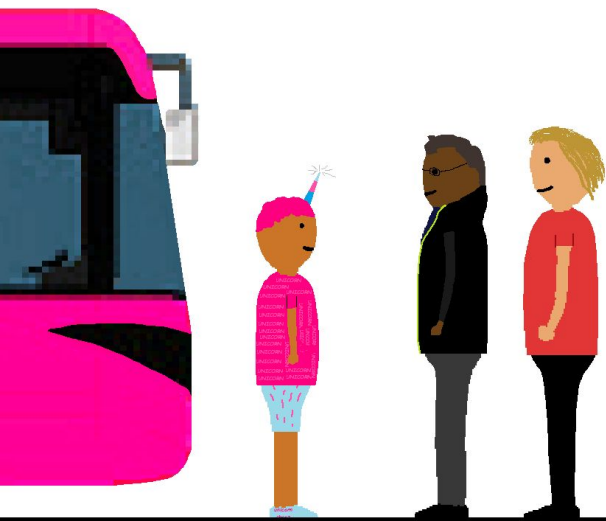

Then one of the sales guys had an idea, "The hybrid is nice and fast" he said. "For just £80,000 we can upgrade it to be powered by a fast BAE electric motor and diesel generator to provide the electricity". "That is great" said Pink Horsey, but Unicorn Guy wasn't happy "Where am I meant to get that amount of money from" he said. Pink Horsey decided that it was still a good idea to upgrade the bus, so Unicorn Guy paid for it on his mum's card. So far this year he had spent £85,000 on their original Enviro 200, £115,000 on their new Enviro 200, and now they had spent £80,000 to upgrade it to hybrid. His mums account was now £280,000 in debt, but luckily his mum didn't know how to log on to her account online!

After the bus was upgraded, Unicorn Guy and Pink Horsey were very excited to try it out. The mechanic asked to speak to an adult from the bus company. Unicorn Guy had registered his bus on the DVLA under a fictitious bus company name to avoid being caught. The mechanic wanted to speak to an adult from "Pink Buses LTD" as he was very concerned that so far he had only spoken to a horse and a 12 year old! Unicorn Guy said that he would go and get an adult, then when the mechanic had gone back in his office, Unicorn Guy and Pink Horsey ran onto the bus and drove it away as fast as it would go. The bus accelerated really fast and now had a top speed of 60 mph. Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy were very happy with their bus now that it was upgraded to a hybrid.

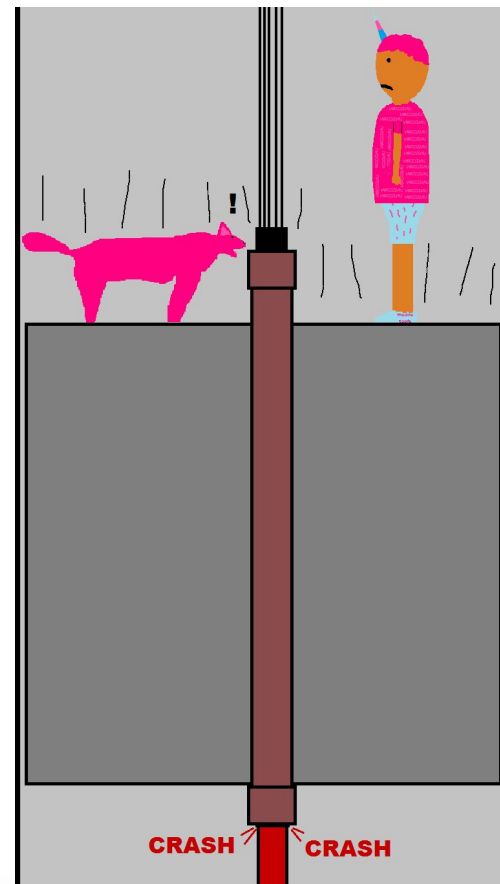

Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy were driving their bus around town at 40 mph in a 30 mph area. They were caught on several speed cameras but they didn't care as the DVLA will be going after the nonexistent "Pink Buses LTD" to collect the fine. Also they were driving without insurance or even having a car driving licence, let alone a PSV licence. Pink Horsey was currently driving (even though he is a horse) and was having lots of fun. But Unicorn Guy was worried about the large amount of debt he had run up on his mum's account. His mum would find out about what he had been up to, or the bailiffs might come round. Unicorn Guy needed money, fast! Then all of a sudden, he had an idea. They were driving past an entire rack of boris bikes. So guess what they did. They used their Boris bike master key and stole the lot of them, and put them in their bus! Just like chavs! So Unicorn Guy and Pink Horsey were driving along with a bus full of bikes. They sold them on ebay to make some money.

The next day Pink Horsey wanted to go and surf some lifts and film it for his youtube channel "PINKHORSEY Productions". They got in their Enviro and went to a local car park. When they arrived at the car park, Unicorn Guy noticed his parents, he panicked. If he tried to drive out the car park he risked his parents seeing him (pink horsey couldn't drive as he is a rubbish driver and couldn't negotiate the tight turns of the car park). Unicorn Guy jumped out of the bus just as his parents came around the corner. "I didn't expect to see you here" said his mum. "I just felt like walking here" he said. Even though he was standing next to his pink bus, his parents didn't expect that it was his and he had driven it here. They would never have dreamed that their son knew how to drive a bus, let alone buying one with fake details and driving it illegally!

The car park had some old O&Ks. After Unicorn Guy's parents had left, he decided to surf it. The lift had its logic replaced with chinese shit in the 90s and regularly bugged up. When Unicorn Guy put it on inspection it went down at full speed and hit the buffer. CRASH! The voice unit went crazy and started saying "Store exit and level! Store exit and level! store exit and level! Market. Car six park. Only staff. Mezzanine. Service out maintenance for of lift! Please do not mind the doors. Open level. Fire mode fighting. Lift required for doors leave emergency if the! Do not close. Alarmed lift top car". This was scary, as the lifts went two metres a second (it was only supposed to go one, but the governor didn't trip). A loud bang came from the motor room and a quiet pop came from the lift car. The voice unit probably had overheated from saying too many messages and exploded. The lift then shot upwards to where they were in reach of a door, so they got off while they could. Some chavs saw them getting off the lift, and they wanted to see what they were doing and they started following them, Pink Horsey and Unicorn guy quickly went back to their bus. "What are you doing bruv" said one of the chavs.....

The chavs were not exactly being aggressive but they could turn aggressive at any moment. Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy did not want attention from chavs, so they quickly drove away in their bus. As they were driving away, one of the chavs threw a stone at the bus, but luckily he missed. They then went to the abandoned Chatham Pentagon bus station and had fun driving their bus around it at speed. They then went to the lifts at the Brook car park, the lifts were not working, so they went up the stairs and found a dead person lying in the stairway. They then went in the ALS glass lifts in the Chatham Pentagon Center and turned the key for the secret tunnel level, up there they saw an unlocked stairway into the motor room. After playing with the lift logics they surfed the glass ALS lifts. There was no car top controls on the lift because all lift engineers worked for Otis, and their fingers were so sore of using the otis Gen2 car top controls, they couldn't be bothered to fit the new ones as their hands hurt so much. Security are very strict at the pentagon and one of them noticed them on top the lift. Security went mental and were running all around the center trying to catch them. If security had caught them they would have illegally assaulted them (because that is what security is like at the Chatham Pentagon). Unicorn Guy and Pink Horsey made it safely back to their bus.

Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy then drove back to their local car park and started having a myhttreetz party with the homeless grey horse that lived in the lift motor room. They then went on top the lift and almost fell of the side as they all felt dizzy from the party. They then all fell asleep on top of the lift, and got woken up to realise that someone had broken into the car park and smashed the old toilet on the ground floor. The mad toilet smasher must have heard grey horsey snoring and legged it as he left the urinals and sinks alone.

Pink Horsey and Unicorn Guy then went home. As always, when driving their bus there is a risk that someone might notice that a 12 year old is driving a bus, and while most people will be shocked by this, they won't get involved. But every now and then there will be a nosey cunt who will take things into their own hands, getting involved in other people's business like they own the entire world. This time while they were pulling into Pink Horseys stable (which is where they kept the bus, so that Unicorn Guy's parents won't find out about it) a nosey cunt noticed Unicorn Guy driving the bus. When Unicorn Guy got out the bus the nosey cunt grabbed him. "WHAT ON EARTH ARE YOU DOING" shouted nosey cunt. Unicorn Guy screamed. Pink Horsey tried to make nosey cunt let go but he wasn't strong enough. Unicorn Guy's mum was walking along the road. She ran over when she saw what was happening. "What is going on" she yelled. "I need to speak to this child's parents immediately, this is very serious" nosey cunt replied. "Well go on" demanded his mum. "This is a Matter that concerns his mum" said nosey cunt. "Well, I'm here" she said, "I need to speak to her" said nosey cunt (Unicorn Guy is mixed, and nosey cunt didn't realise he was speaking to his mum as her skin color was different to his). "I am his mum" she shouted. "You can't be" said nosey cunt. "YOU FUCKING RACIST CUNT" yelled his mum and punched him in the face. "Don't you dare fucking grab my child". Nosey cunt tried to say he saw him driving a bus but his mum wasn't listening. Unicorn Guy's secret was safe this time!

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH

PAGE 2

After over 4 hours on a RyanAir plane, everyone was tired after their holiday in Lanzarote and were all fighting to get off. Everyone was pushing and shoving each other to get off. This very rude person went further to put his arm out and blocked my way so that he could get of the plane first and got angry with me.

There are signs saying "Neighborhood Watch. Criminals Beware." Little does everybody in the neighborhood know; the signs were bought at local hardware store. On Clearance! 50p a sign! All the neighborhood gets is top-heavy lampposts that keel over on the thief. And the residents!

Near the NEC in Birmingham some people (who thought they owned the place) had closed of a massive section of pavement, far greater than the area they were working on (I wonder if they even had authorisation to do this in the first place). As well as the pavement, they had closed off all the grass by the lake. People walking past all just obeyed and didn't question them. These workers who thought they had the level of authority of a policeman, telling people where they could and couldn't go. I was going to go and sit by the lake, which they had fenced off, but a long way from them, just to see if they would tell me I wasn't allowed to be there. But I didn't even get that far. I was walking along the road, OUTSIDE of the area which they fenced off, and this guy who looked like a security guard told me I had to cross to the other side of the road.

I was shocked at how he thought he could tell me what to do on a public street. I wasn't going to put up with that, and I told him I didn't have to do anything. He looked surprised that I stood up for myself (as I must have been the only one who did). A second guy who was standing next to him told him to "leave it". One bit of good news is that a wheel had fallen off their machine which looked very expensive. Lets just hope that this cost a lot of money to fix.

Stannah - Replacing reliable lifts into our load of shit

Stannah used to be good!

Stannah used to be a proper lift company that manufactured lifts. They have been around a very long time they used to install some epic vintage lifts (which is a world away from the company today) such as this one (pictured right and below) at a small independent department store on Worthing (now sadly replaced with a horrid generic).

It is common practise for Stannah to persuade building owners to modernize lifts that don't need modernizing. I have even spoken to a Stannah lift engineer that was given the job of replacing a working lift logic with the exact same model of logic. Apparently Stannah had persuaded the building owner that their lift needed upgrading and they decided to do a totally unnecessary controller replacement. But hey, you can't argue with Stannah, they are a multi award winning company!

Stannah had a massive change in the 80s and started installing hydraulics. These lifts were still pretty good and fairly interesting. But since then their lifts have gone down hill. In the 90s they were ok, but in the 2000s they turned into complete utter rubbish. They no longer manufacture lifts and just install the worst cheap nasty lifts which they rebrand as their own. Their lifts look completely bog standard and they feel ever so cheap and nasty. They have a very generic time wasting feel to the way they run. If you ask Stannah for a posh top of the range lift they will talk about their "Bespoke range" but in practise they will put in the bare minimum effort making the lift look hardly any different to any other generic. Stannah also install a lot of lifts in train stations which are some of the most uninspiring lifts I have ever come across.

The picture above is of a vintage Marrat Scott at Gunnersbury Court in Acton. The residents were very fond of their lift, but Stannah persuaded the building owner to replace it telling residents about "Letting go". They told residents that they would "Maintain the 1930's aesthetic" of the lift. So a nasty cheap generic lift which looks completely bog standard with a tiny amount of effort to make it fit in (pictured left) is Stannah's attempt of making a lift that reflects a 30s building. This is the absolute worst attitude of present day shit lift companies. Stannah like to talk about their long history, but if they ever saw one of their classic old lifts they would immediately want to replace it telling the building owner lies in an effort to persuade them.

THE UPSET STANNAH

I am very upset because I have found myself in this month's magazine being bad mouthed by Beno ARRRRR. I am going to trap him next time I see him how dare he say my mother and father is killing old lifts and replacing them with newer things like me (Which I think all lifts should be like me). PS i cannot take a picture of myself so i stole my picture of his page HAHahaha also my -1 button hurts :(

THE HAPPY K55 140 BUTTON

I am having a lovely day today. I have been pressed approximately 25,000 times and I still feel like a new multiplexed button. I was cold that morning when a beno hand pressed me warming me up to 25 degrees centigrade. I was very disappointed as this touch of warmth only lasted a quick second. My led light was also happy to illuminate after the button was pushed. All I needed was a push.

FINDING A PLACE TO CHARGE MY PHONE IN EDINBURGH

It was 00:00 at night me and ben was very tired. My phone was also very tired at 1% battery and it wanted a charge. I do not have an external 5v battery charger so I had to find a plug and guess where the closest plug was on top of a otis 2000 which we spent about 2 hours and we actually started falling asleep which is not good because this was a 2:1 cabled lift. We were very lucky that I noticed myself falling asleep and I noticed ben starting to fall asleep so I decided it was best we got off the lift my phone was 80% charged and by 8am my phone was low again so I went to a Qpark and charged my phone until 10am.

YET ANOTHER SAMSUNG GADGET EXPLODES

My 400 quid 32 inch monitor blew up just a year after I bought it. It just went pop one day and tripped all of my circuit breakers.

Look at that. No matter what I do it doesn't turn on, its fucked. I hope they give me a refund, well they better do so or I will get pissed.

EAST LONDON BIKE ADVENTURE

We all went off to Stepney green to cycle around London. I couldn't bring my own bike on the train so I hired boris bikes and made Ben pay for them.

This is Ben's bike. As you can see it is total shite. He bodged up the gears and now they don't change properly. His handlebars are all worn away and the glue makes them all sticky and horrid.

I don't have a picture of Dean's bike so here is a picture of a bike that a chav has got hold of. Always remember to bring good locks and lock the frame and both wheels when leaving your bike in London!

This was my bike. The best and fastest type of bike. Ben's 300 pound 'Fast road bike' was slower than this awesome bike. It was the fastest bike overtaking every other bike on the cycle paths and overtaking lots of buses and even a ferrari. Yeah like!

We went from Stepney Green to the city, then liverpool street then all the way to the olympic park.

Here are the fountains. We tried to cycle through them without getting wet but you can guess what actually happened.

Look what happened here! ~~I had a nasty accident near Bow Interchange~~ This bike was found outside a huge tower block in Bow. I think a chav broke it and dumped it. We cycled it back to the dock and reported it as broken.

JOIN THE CHURCH OF DENNIS

First Church of Dennis, Scientist, Croydon

This is the official Church Of Dennis. All believers must make a pilgrimage here at least once in their lives and pray.

Here is an ancient mythological picture of the devil

Here is our official religious object that believers must carry around at all times.

THE BEST CHEAP CHICKEN SHOP IN LONDON

Look what I found in Isleworth. Some body opened up a peri peri chicken shop and decided to name it 'nandos'. Unfortunately the real nandos found out about this shop and sued them... So they renamed their shop changing the n to a j.

But that's not all! The sign still said nandos so they had to change that, but because the chicken shop made so little money they couldn't afford to buy a new sign so they patched up the n and replaced it with a j. They did this in the sloppiest way possible. This is what the shop looks like today

VANCITY ELEVATORS

Wow... someone was angry this month. I don't know how he did it. In fact, this was taken before a huge marathon event occurred... so I hope no one got injured from broken glass.

WANTED TO SURF A DUMBWAITER BUT...

My friend showed me an old dumbwaiter (ruined by generic) at his old shoe factory in Dongguan. I'm really annoyed that my friend was watching me when I was taking photos but oh well...

Hong Kong: A vintage lift land!

Sadly, most lifts in Hong Kong are currently being modernized with stupid generics... It is a matter a time before the old lifts are gone.

Old Otis service lift at the Imperial Hotel.

1960's Schindler lift at a commercial building. I love the pop out buttons!

Gated lift!! At a office/commercial building.

WAFFAIN'S PAGE

Hi again im waffain this week was a very rough week i got blamed for something i didn't do and got detention for it so I ate raw meat to get food poisoning the next day so I didn't have to go to school. After that day I did not get detention.

The display on my phone got a vertical line and the back glass cracked.

My Lg g4's camera glass cracked

I was too short to put the string on the interlock

My note 5 display also got a vertical line.

But there are good things happening too

I got a new camera(canon 80d)

I got a demo s7 edge which I flashed the stock firmware and it works flawlessly but when I give an app superuser permissions the phone freezes up and restarts.

JOSH'S PAGE

Hi my name is Josh this month I safely broke a kleeman and a oakland lift they both where shit and it was fucking sore when i safty broke it i think it hit the roof after :l so i was shitting myself "CLEAN UP AT LIFT ONE PLS"

Here are some pics:

DEAN'S PAGE

Hi I'm Dean,

Again, me, Ben and Adam were surfing lifts, and Ben and me were swimming in Britannia Leisure Centre, Hoxton. Also I went on a old lift and I love riding the lifts and trains, but we got caught by people we were not happy to see me, Ben and Adam on top a lift.

There is a video on YouTube with me, Ben and Adam on Beno's channel and Adam Ltbcvids. Rafe the trainspotter too my good friend of mine there and Adam is funny ss well.

This saturday I will be on my bike with Beno and Ltbcvids on the greenway Ltbcvids will be using a santander bike he has to pay for it, banter, it good but adam and beno and me are going to underground car park, it going to be fun to go there.

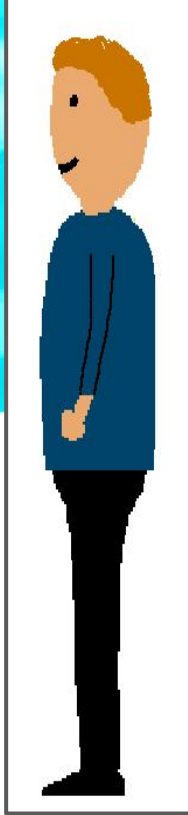

I went to the deep deep car park and me and Ben and Adam turn the lights off to shut all the shutters, it was funny and we surf lift with a boris bike. It was really really really funny and we cycle to the Olympic Park and we threw stones from the climbing wall into the River Lee and threw stones at Adam and Ben.

Thanks you for reading my page.

Rafe's Page

Hi, I'm rafe the trainspotter and I have found out that the Transpennine express CAF city class 397 and The AT300 (from china) are coming to Scarborough. The AT300 (from china) features a pantograph to go on the overhead power lines and a diesel generator which allows the train to operate on non electrified tracks. Its top speed is 125Mph. The TransPennine Express class 185 fleet will be getting refurbished with the new livery. Scarborough are getting road trams in the future. I like to stay in the hotels and caravans. I also like to go on train trips and i will be going to leeds for a day trip. I will be going on a class 185 to Leeds and I am taking my camera to do trainspotting. I like to track trains on my phone which allows me to get the perfect footage also I enjoy bus spotting.

Designing a portable subwoofer, with help from Jordan and Beno, just needs some wire and a headphone jack looking forward to having my first page beno is the best youtuber, generic are shit, kone is the best, me Jordan and Beno are the speaker guys

Get a mono or stereo jack, solder it onto your amp board and make a hole in the speaker enclosure for your jack. Use a AUX cable to connect your speaker and working on my other one

I've also almost been arrested by the police for trespassing and peeing off a old man who chased me the police ran after me and chased me to the ground and let me go after giving me a warning but I didn't really give a shit what they said.

I might start vlogging on YouTube but I don't know because most of my blogs are shit or don't work at the minute, no clue what to do

BEN'S PAGES

I have been to loads of places this month, including cheap flight adventures to Lanzarote and Edinburgh & Glasgow. I have had a lot of fun this month. Especially going on lift adventures with Adam and Dean. The rest of the magazine is what I have been up to in the last month.

As always, I have surfed loads of lifts this month. I have found loads of really nice old lifts, some even with original inspection controls.

Surfing Oronas is always fun, especially when they mess up and keep saying "DOORS CLOSING, PUSH THE ALARM BUTTON" one million times.

DIFFERENCES IN LIFT VOICES

	INSPECT	RETURN TO NORMAL	SAFETY BREAK	FIRE	INTERESTING FEATURES
Kone Ecodisc	BEEP	BEEP BEEP BEEP	-	FIRE! Please leave when the elevator doors open	Please remove obstruction from doors. BEEEEEEP. EARTHQUAKE!

Otis 2000	-	-	-	BAAAAAAA	PLEASE SELECT YOUR FLOOR
ILE	This lift is OUT of service	This lift is OUT of service		This lift is returning under fire control operation.	Old version says "Please use next lift" even though this message can not be selected when reprogramming.
Lester	This lift is, out of service.	This lift is, out of service.	Please mind the doors, Doors closing.		Going up, Going up, Going up, Going up, Going up, Going up, Going up.
Mitsubish i	(can't give a message as the logic is cut off by inspection switch)	DING DONG	Lift has stopped for safety purposes! Please wait a moment!	Gives a separate message outside the lift and inside	Sorry to keep you waiting. Button mounts of non service floors do not illuminate. Please press button again for the desired floor.
Thames Valley	Lift out of service. MAINTENANCE CONTROL!	Lift out of service	-
Orona	OUT OF SERVICE		DOORS CLOSING. OUT OF ORDER. PUSH THE ALARM BUTTON!		Introduce the access code. Access code is wrong - Call again!
Bodge voice	This lift is out of service for maintenance	This lift is out of service			This lift is goiiinnnggg uuup!
Gen2 better voice				Is required for an emergency. Please leave when the lift doors open.	There are 2 gen2 voices. I prefer this one

LUNCH ON TOP A SCHINDLER

There is no better place to have lunch than on top an awesome intelligent Schindler M series. As always, loads of people used the lift without having a clue that we were on top it. At one point security got in the lift, I would have loved to see their reaction if they knew that someone was on top.

EXPLORING INTU WATFORD

Me and Adam explore Intu Watford's service areas. After two members of staff pissed us off by demanding to know why we went to a public car park. We decided to go and explore the service areas. There were loads of signs about saying you need a "permit to work" and to be on the lookout for people who are not meant to be there. They have gone very tight on security. This just made us more determined to go around the areas that we were not meant to be in. In the service areas they had added RFID magnet locks to some of the doors including a fire exit. This is very dangerous. Just because the door probably unlocks if there is a fire is not good enough, it is still a potential entrapment as this is the only stairs out of the area. There must always be a way to get out any area in a building (without having to use the lifts) by law. Intu can not say that this does not apply as everyone must have had an RFID card to get there, because we were able to get around their locks by taking a long complex route which involved tricking the main lift to go to the basement and then using the gated lifts to get in the restricted service area.

Guess what? All these signs didn't stop us exploring restricted areas!

ADVENTURE IN LANZAROTE

I went on a cheap flight to Lanzarote. It is 1700 miles from home. It is an island as far south as the south of Morocco in Africa. It is the furthest I have ever been from home. When I arrived on the plane I got a bus into Arrecife. I was very unimpressed that there is no day ticket on the buses which means I had to pay for every single journey I did.

When I got to Arrecife, all of the buildings looked very different from at home. There was a 17 floor hotel which had Orona lifts, which are very unsuitable for the number of floors.

There was a small flats building which had a cheap and nasty ThyssenKrupp lift. The motor room had the key hanging on the door, so I walked away, nah just kidding, I went in the motor room to find an awesome old motor on the other lift which was being modernized.

What idiot would replace their nice old lift with this shit. The lifts have a weird triangle keyhole on the lifts door frame which felt like it was lulling a piece of string connected to the rollers when I tried to open it, but it wouldn't open. After looking around Arrecife I get on a bus to Costa Tegui.

LETS SNEAK INTO SOME SWIMMING POOLS

I was very nervous sneaking into my first swimming pool, but nobody noticed me. As long as you copy what everyone else is doing, nobody will know that you are not meant to be there.

I then go to the next hotel in Costa Tegui and go in the pool there. Once again nobody noticed that I wasn't meant to be there. As long as you are careful to assess the situation and make sure you don't stand out as not meant to be there, nobody will notice you.

I had a 5 star holiday in Lanzarote while only paying for the cheapest most basic hotel on the island. As like the last one, this swimming pool was also very nice.

There are loads of really awesome cactus gardens around Lanzarote.

AND INTO A VERY POSH HOTEL

This was the best hotel in Costa Teguisé. It is really posh and ever so awesome. The swimming pool was epic. Everything about it is really epic. A weird thing about the pool is that it has a small circular shallow pool in the middle of the main swimming pool.

A very weird motor on this Schindler Smart mod by Schindler at the hotel.

At the other end of the complex is another pool. I think it is part of the same hotel, even though it looks different to the other pool. This pool wasn't as interesting as the other one.

This swimming pool was quieter than the other one. I almost had the entire place to myself.

LOOKING AROUND COSTA TEGUISE

All of the buildings all look really nice and posh, although the actual construction of the buildings is rather cheap.

All the buildings are white and there are palm trees everywhere

Sadly none of the buildings are tall

Palm trees in the streets looks really nice

COSTA TEGUISE CACTUS GARDENS

There are cactus gardens everywhere in Lanzarote. They are all really nice and look very different from anything back in England.

There are lots of unusual looking plants.

There is an abandoned resort hotel which was never completed its construction. It is interesting to see the way these resorts are built. The construction is cheap, but the end result looks nice.

This resort would have been massive. There would be glass lifts running up the outside of the buildings. Just imagine a massive swimming pool in the middle of this.

The building looks like a poured concrete construction, but only the floors are poured concrete. The upright supports are pre built concrete blocks stacked up like lego blocks.

And the floors themselves, only the top layer that you walk on is poured concrete, the main part of the floors is like concrete floor boards.

Lets take a look around Puerto del Carmen. Here is the shopping center.

The shopping center has some nice Oronas

There is no inspection control on top, not even under the flap that you can lift up.

Again, loads of nice palm trees everywhere.

SWIMMING POOLS IN COSTA TEGUISE

This place is really nice. It is quite small, but nobody noticed me sneaking into the pools.

The next place that I managed to sneak in had a massive garden. It looks really nice.

The swimming pool is not the best, but it is still nice. The water was very cold.

In this places you could really just walk in and go straight into the pool. Nobody will notice you.

THE BEST SWIMMING POOL

Now this swimming pool was ever so nice. There are palm trees around the pool and everything about it is really posh. I followed some people through the door that you need a keycard for to get in the pool. This pool is complete luxury.

I wonder what this bottle in a lift shaft contains. Oil for the lift? An engineer's drink? An engineer's piss? I dread to think! We think Dean would be happy to try it though!

There is another really nice garden area.

SWIMMING POOLS IN PLAYA BLANCA

Playa Blanca is right down on the south of the island.

This pool was really nice and had a really nice atmosphere.

They had put a lot of effort into making this pool nice with lots of bridges and scenery.

5 STAR HOTEL

This hotel said 5 star hotel in big letters on the side of it, so I just had to go in and have a look.

These screens in the Otis 2000s are nice. The lifts had both some spanish voice and the Otis 2000 voice.

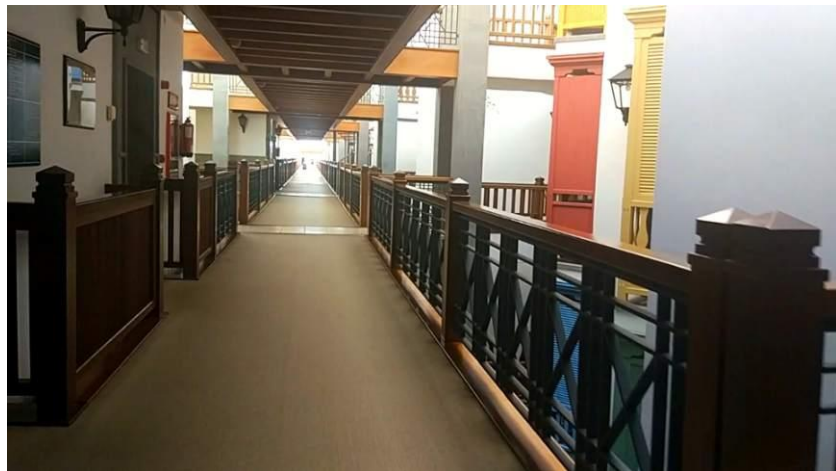

Even though this is a 5 star hotel, the pool isn't the best I had been in. It is still nice, but nothing special.

The swimming pool was very cold. The lifeguard was suspicious of me as I didn't have a hotel towel.

The walkways around this hotel were all very nice and posh looking.

This place looks very nice, but I didn't feel that it was particularly better than any of the other hotels, even though they go on about it being a 5 star hotel.

ADVENTURE IN GLASGOW

Me and Jordan went on a lift adventure in Glasgow. There were lots of interesting things to see. The cinema (pictured above) was weird, it was like 6 cinemas stacked on top each other. The lifts were some nice Otis 2000s.

The hospital had nice modern architecture (pictures left).

The hospital's destination dispatch Schindler's made lots of weird chimes on disabled mode.

BUCHANAN GALLERIES URBEX

The service areas in this Glasgow shopping center were fun to explore. This is an Otis Cargo 2000 which me and Jordan surfed. I wonder what security would think if they knew we were on top a lift that we were not allowed to be in, let alone on top of.

This place had 4 double helix staircases all next to each other. This is crazy. There is no reason they could possible reason they would need this many stairs. In the service corridor there were 8 doors marked stairs all next to each other. We didn't believe it at first, but they all had a large wide staircase behind them.

The service areas were fun. Several times members of staff walked past us. Me and Jordan walked along confidently and nobody questioned us.

GLASGOW METRO

The Glasgow underground is totally awesome. The trains are so small. It is like they took the London underground and shrunk it.

The trains are so small. It is so weird, but ever so fun.

The system runs very well. Me and Jordan went on it for ages.

HOLIDAY INN TOWER

Me and Jordan noticed this weird architecture at this Holiday Inn in Glasgow. I said I wonder if we can climb right up the top of it and guess what.... We did!

I love it when these architectures which are focused on how it looks on the outside, turns out to be weirdly designed on the inside.

There was a weird series of ladders which we climbed up to get to the top.

Glasgow Royal Infirmary

Glasgow Royal Infirmary is a really fun hospital to go to. There is lots to explore and loads of lifts to ride on top of.

Here is the secret top floor of the hospital which was very creepy. We went on top a lift to get up here.

Yummy Asbestos!

In one part of the hospital they had broken into some parts of the walls to remove plaster to test it for asbestos (which it almost certainly contained). The asbestos plaster had gone everywhere all over the floor. NICE!

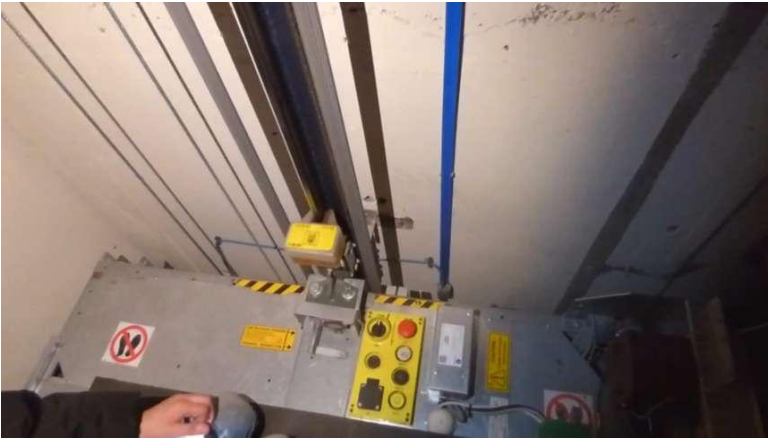

There were loads of epic creepy tunnels below the hospital which were very fun to explore.

And of course, we had to surf some more lifts in the hospital. Here is an Orona worm drive.

ADVENTURE IN EDINBURGH

Me and Jordan had a day in Edinburgh. There was several hotels and lots of buildings to surf the lifts in. The Radisson Blu Hotel had some Schindler 3300s, these go 1.6 m/s, and when we went on top we found it was just as cheaply built as the regular 3300s.

We got on the roof of the Apex Waterloo Place hotel. This hotel had some ecodiscs which were fun to surf. When we left the hotel manager was suspicious of us. I wonder what he would have thought if he had known we had been on the roof and surfed the lift.

We also got on the roof of the Hilton. This roof was interesting as it had lots of different bits to it. The lifts in this hotel wasn't very interesting.

Not a very enjoyable ride on the trams as just after 2 stations the very rude conductor told me I wasn't allowed to film and had to delete all my videos (which I obviously didn't, my video is on youtube). She wanted to go through every single picture on my camera to check there was nothing of the trams. WHAT A FUCKING CUNT.

ASBESTOS HOUSE URBEX

This abandoned creepy block of flats in Chattenden has been abandoned for ages. It is completely trashed inside as it has been abandoned for so long.

The building is all boarded up and very creepy. Inside it is not as dark as you would think by looking at it. The local children hang out in this building, despite the fact there is asbestos everywhere.

Yummy asbestos! I should take some home and use it in my sandwiches.

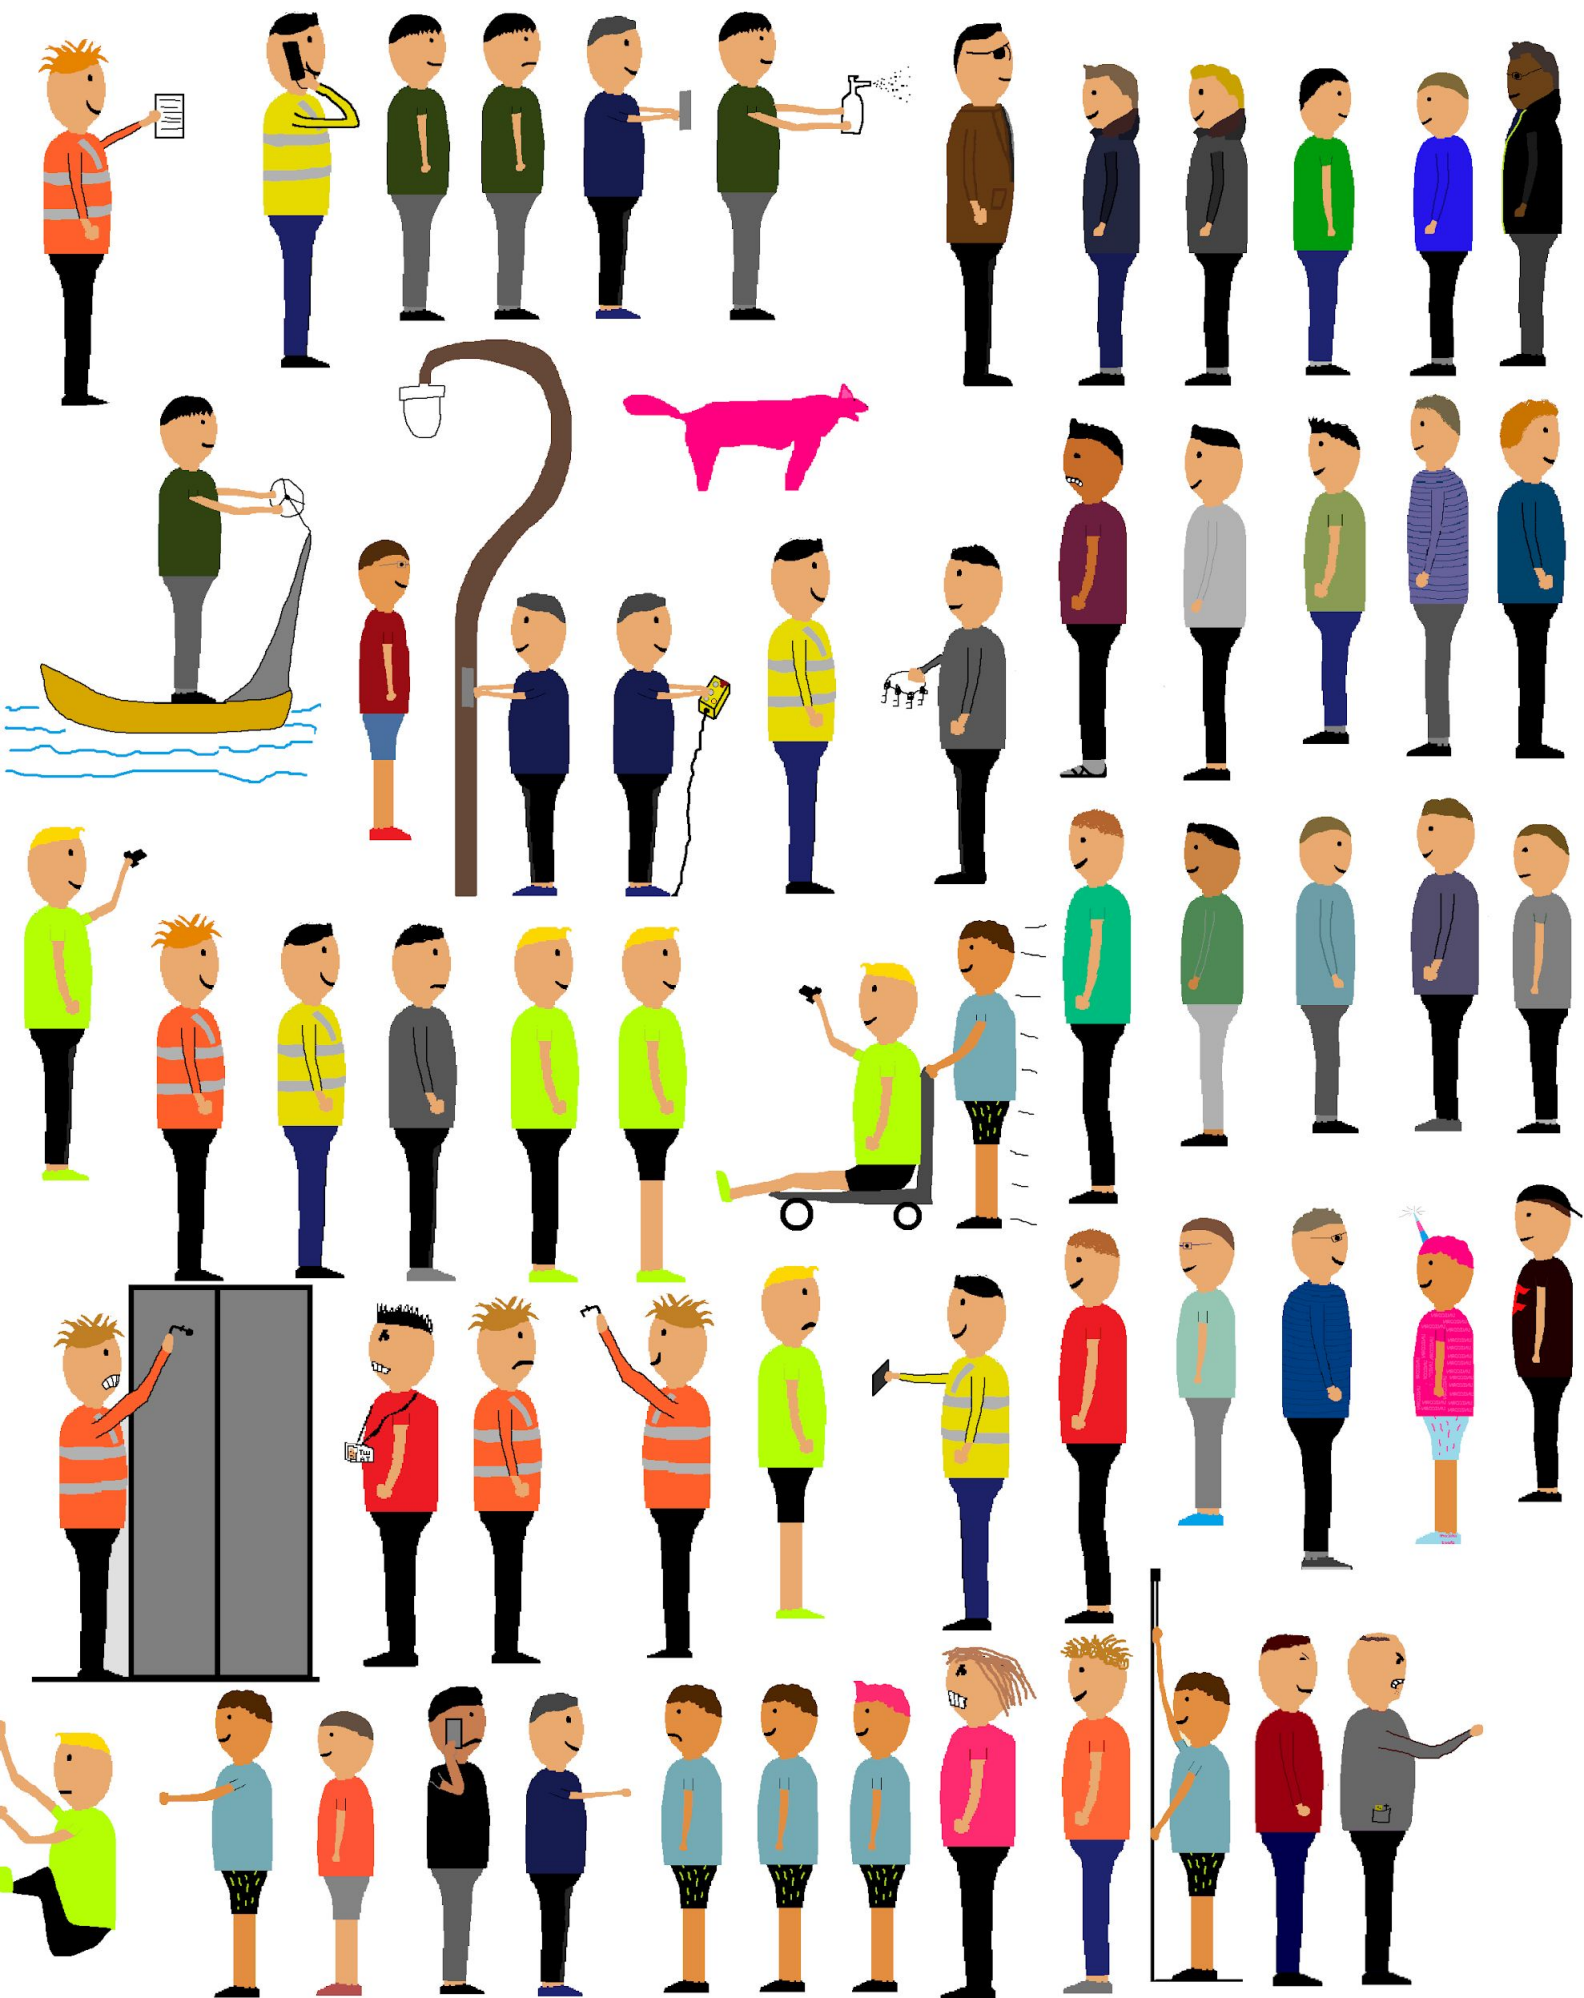

You can climb up all the way to the roof.

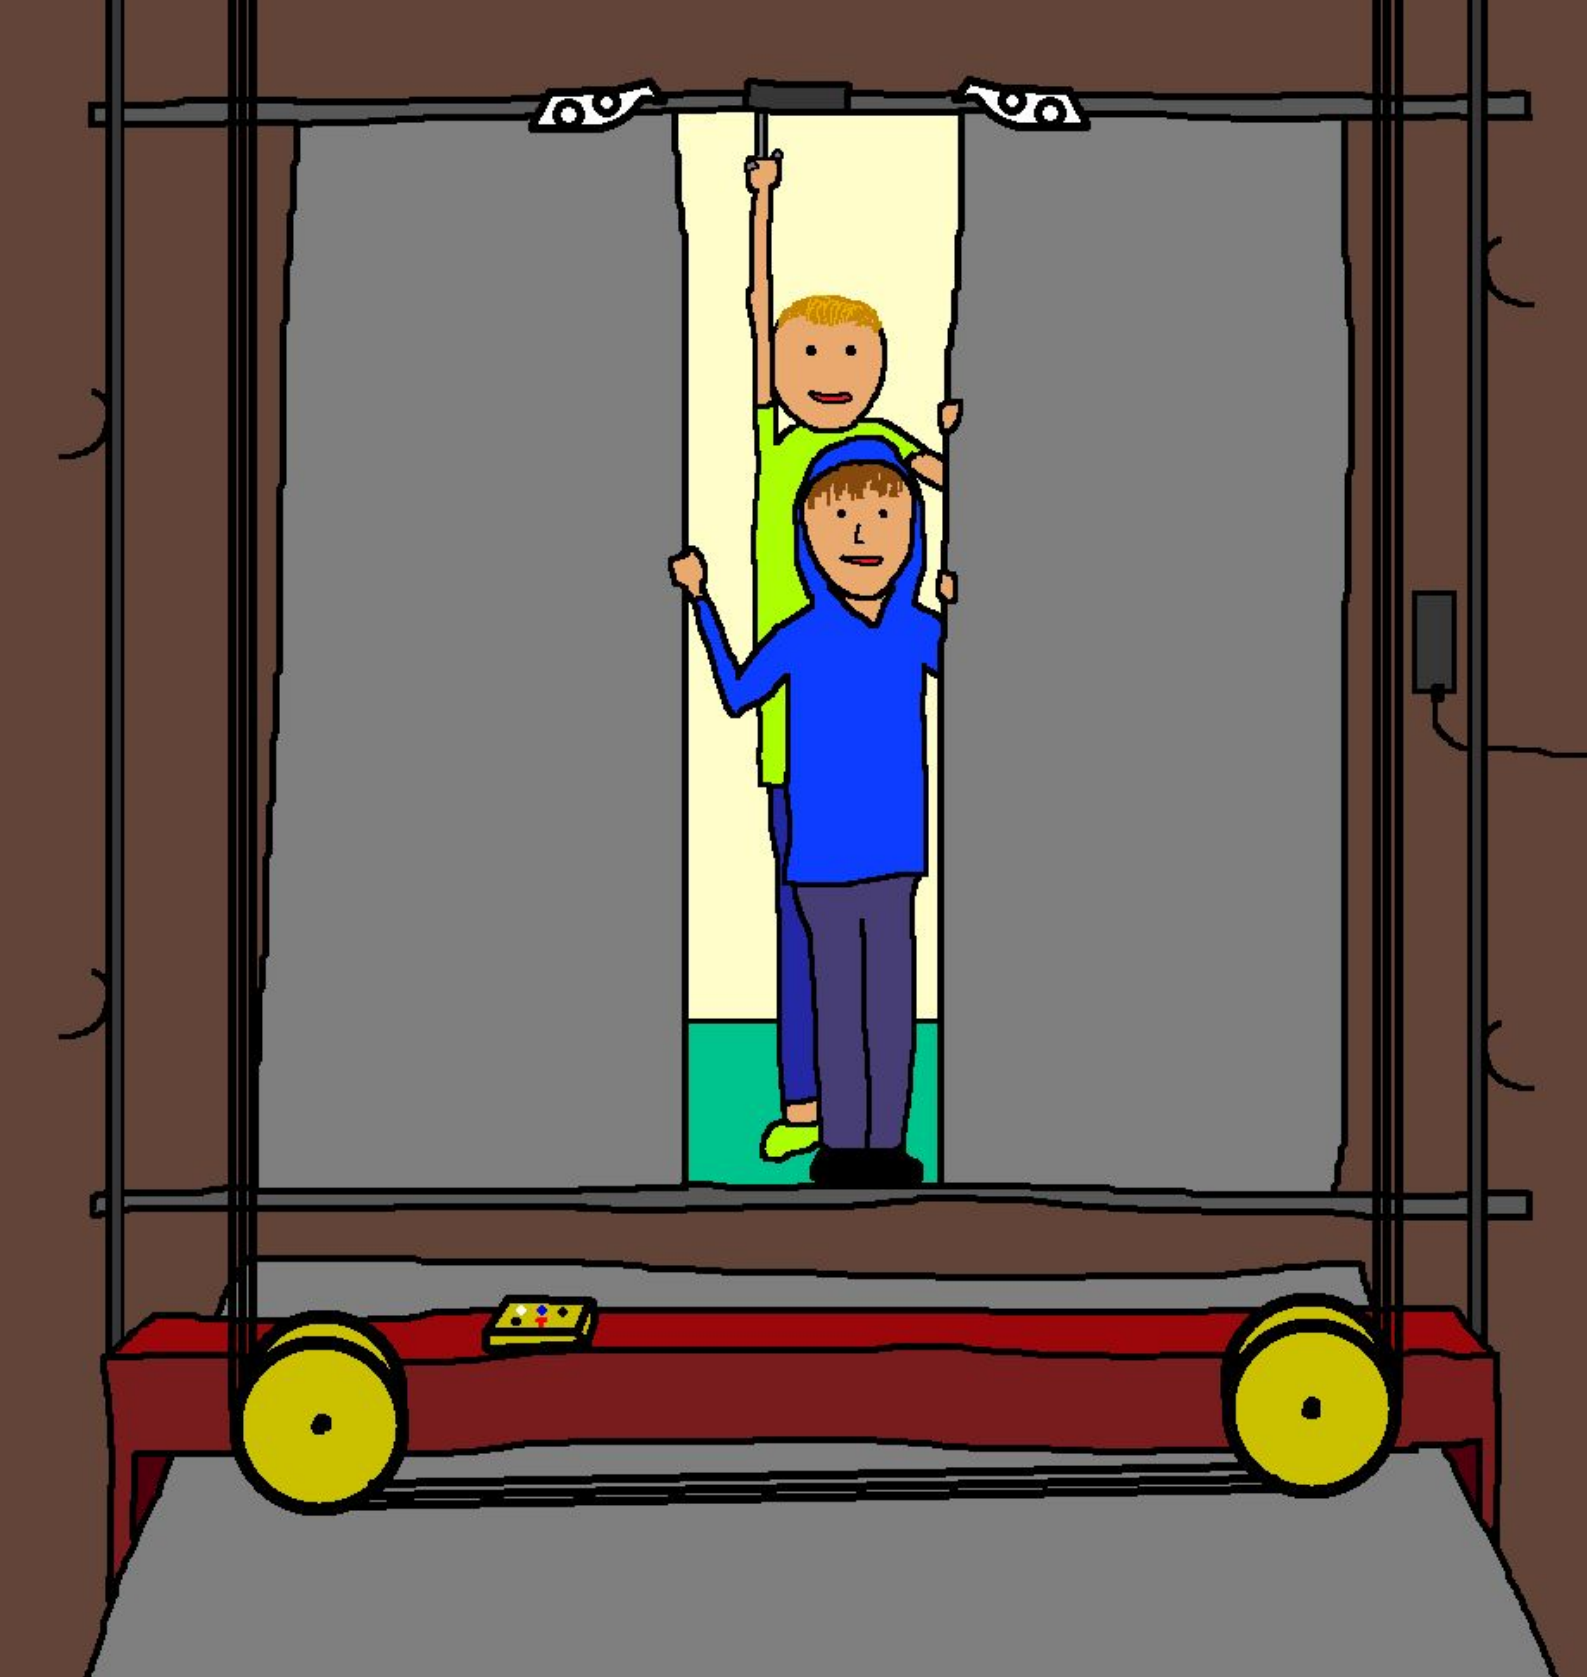

The roof felt like it was going to collapse. It was really nice being on the roof. Right at the top of the building.

THE END
